The NSS unit of Sri Venkateswara College of Engineering and Technology, Tiruvallur, conducted a Rally on rain water harvesting for the people of Pandu. In order to raise the awareness on rain water harvesting and to increase the ground water source we conducted a rally in partnership with NSS unit of SVCET.

The rally was flagged off by the Principal D.J. Venkatesh, starting from college campus to Pandur bus stop. Rainwater harvesting is the collection and storage of rainwater, instead of allowing it to flow away, for future use. The collected water is contained in percolating wells, shafts, etc. It is often used for drinking purposes and the extracted water can be used in irrigation, plantations, domestic use, etc. One of the oldest and easiest methods for storing freshwater is rainwater harvesting.
